Musique Concrete, Tape Music (GRM France):

Compositions made with turntables/tape from a variety of source material

Pierre Schaeffer, Pierre Henry, Bernard Parmegiani, Luc Ferrari

WDR, Electronic Music Studio (Germany):

Concepts drawn from serialism, "pure" electronic tones from synthesis

Stockhausen (There are others, as well.)

Other composers important to early electronic music:

Edgar Varese

John Cage (and Feldman, Brown, Wolff)

Louis & Bebe Barron

(There are many others, as well.)

The switch from the vacuum tube, to the transistor, to eventually the integrated circuit (IC) allowed for electronics to become increasingly compact with more functionality.

David Tudor "Rainforest" <https://www.moma.org/magazine/articles/166>
(<https://www.moma.org/magazine/articles/166>).

Synthesis/synthesizers:

Robert Moog & Don Buchla

Performers & composers important to early synths: Morton Subotnick, Wendy Carlos

Creating electronic instruments that are "patchable" to allow for composers to create their sounds from (mostly) scratch

Computer music:

Laurie Spiegel, John Chowning (FM synthesis & Yamaha DX7)

*Expanding Universe was written on the GROOVE system at Bell Labs <https://120years.net/groove-systems-max-mathews-usa-1970/> (<https://120years.net/groove-systems-max-mathews-usa-1970/>).

Max Mathews, Bell Labs (Max/MSP was named after Max Mathews)

Applying computational concepts and synthesis to music, sound spatialization (stereo and more)

Visual synths:

Daphne Oram (Oramics Machine)

Iannis Xenakis (UPIC System)

Visual artists 1960s- sculptures with new materials:

Eva Hesse

John Chamberlain

Robert Rauschenberg

Robert Irwin & James Turrell (light)

Stan Brakhage (video)

Joan Jonas (video, painting, movement) <https://www.artnews.com/art-news/reviews/joan-jonas-moma-retrospective-review-1234700279/> (<https://www.artnews.com/art-news/reviews/joan-jonas-moma-retrospective-review-1234700279/>)

Walter de Maria (& other Fluxus artists we will discuss next unit)

Noah Purifoy (eventually made desert museum in the late '80s which we will read about)

Thaddeus Mosley (wooden sculptures, very cool)

Sol Lewitt, Jasper Johns, Donald Judd

Cy Twombly, Agnes Martin (mostly paintings, but very different subject matter and materiality)

There are so many other! Please read about some that you like. The 1960s was an interesting time for new materials.
